CONFESSION OF ROSE

Tells Story of Plot in Which Becker
Was the Moving Spirit—Details of Rosenthal Killing Bared to the Police.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, July 30.—The indictment and arrest of police lieutenant Charles Becker for the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, soon after the confession of "Bald Jack" Rose, "Bridge" Webber and Harry Vallon, revealed today to District Attorney Whitman the "police system" in all its hideousness.

The public prosecutor following the trail of the three confessions, continued his search for evidence that would implicate those higher up than Becker and more indignant of the police officials are expected by the district attorney. The arrest of Becker lays bare a scandal in the police department that threatens to shake it to its foundation for District Attorney Whitman believes the story of police graft has only been half told.

"Bald Jack" Rose confessed that Becker came to him and fairly desperate over Rosenthal's intention of telling all he knew about his relations with the police lieutenant, said: "Rosenthal has lived too long. He has got to be put out of the way."

Rose told the public prosecutor, the police and the grand jury how the murder band was hired at the instigation of Becker and that after the killing Becker met with Webber and himself and promised complete police protection.

The confessions show that the murderers were "Lettie Louie" or Louis Rosenzweig, Harry Harrowitz or "Gib the Blood" Frank Muller or "Whitie Jack" Lewis, and "Dago Frank" Cirofici. Only Cirofici has been apprehended. These gun men numbers of the notorious "Big Jack" Selig gang filled themselves with liquor and then went out and shot Rosenthal for a price said to be $5,000.

Terror stricken, Rose, Webber and Vallon spent the night in the public prosecutor's office fearing that they would be murdered if they were taken en to the Tombs prison. District Attorney Whitman believes his case against the confessions taken separately dovetailed and that from the testimony of other witnesses the case against Becker cannot be broken down.

Hertford Marshall, counsel for "Jack Sullivan," (Jacob Reich) the go-between between Lieut. Becker and Jack Rose, now held in the Tombs in connection with the case announced this morning that Sullivan was ready to tell all he knew on the witness stand and that his story would prove more astounding than any yet told. Sullivan, he said, would not talk to either the police or the District Attorney.

Rose and Webber say they believed Becker would send them away and had the power to do it. Then the murder plot unfolded itself quickly Monday night came and with it the word for the gun men to get together. Rose told how they got the assassins together and how after the killing he went over to the hotel Metro-ropole to see how the job was done.

Rosenthal lay dead on the sidewalk with a table cloth spread over him. Rose says he called a telephone booth and he was so unperurbed by the shock he could only gasp, "My God this is horrible."

Becker, Rose says in his confession, replied over the wire in steady voice, "O, don't worry. I'll protect you."

Of the real murderers Rose says: "These poor devils did not know what they were doing. They were told to kill and they went out and did what they were told."

Webber and Vallon in their confessions admitted many missing links in the confession of Rose speaking of Becker and his alleged connection with gambling, Rose said:

"Why, of course I was Becker's collector. Everybody knew it." Webber himself says that his protection payments for his gambling house to Becker, through Rose, were $125 a month.

Lieut. Becker, who has been suspended, spent a quiet night in the Tombs. "This is an awful plight for an innocent man to find himself in," said Becker this morning.

The three prisoners, Rose, Webber, and Vallon were still in a state of terror today, though locked in a room in the district attorney's office and guarded by a squad of detectives. Webber was hysterical and frequently wept.

The confession of Rose and Webber, and the indictment of Becker created a sensation in the police department and officials and patrolmen alike wondered who would be the next to be involved in the disclosures of the relations between police and the gamblers.

That an investigation will be undertaken by the city into the police department appeared to be a foregone conclusion. District Attorney Whitman said:

"I am well pleased with the progress we have made. I am not in a position to talk about the grand jury proceedings but the statements made to me were startling in the extreme. I am bound to say that each of them seemed amply corroborated. I hope to clean up the whole affair."

George S. Dougherty, second deputy police commissioner, was the first official to reach headquarters today.

"I never have had any supervision over Lieut. Becker," he said. "He and his work were outside my jurisdiction."

NEW ERA COMMENCES WITH ACCESSION OF THE NEW EMPEROR

State Ceremonies in Connection With Change in Rulership of Japanese
Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Tokio, July 30.—The great state ceremonies in connection with the change in the rulership of the Japanese empire caused by the death early yesterday morning of Mutsuhito and the accession to the throne of his son, Yoshihito, were continued today.

The announcement was made at an early hour of the name of which the new era is to be known. The era changes with every reign and that official decree says the new designation is to be "Taisho" in place of Meiji as it was during the reign of Mutsuhito.

Calm reigns throughout the empire today and the nation for the moment appears completely overcome with sorrow. All the people have put on signs of mourning and all festivities and public functions have been stopped.

In the meantime the great state functionary, including the cabinet ministers, the privy councillors and the leading nobles confer almost constantly at the imperial palace where they are making arrangements for the funeral and for the ceremonial of the official mourning and lying in state.

The new emperor and empress as well as the dowager empress remain in virtual seclusion.

Taft Expresses Regret.
Washington, D. C., July 30.—President Taft, accompanied by his aide, Major T. L. Rhoads, called, at the Japanese embassy today and expressed in person to Ambassador Gihon his deep regret at the death of Emperor Mutsuhito.

The president today received cable messages from Yoshihito, the new emperor of Japan, and the empress dowager, thanking him for sympathetic messages.

SAYS EXTRAVAGANCE

Of the Average Consumer As the Real
Reason for the Increased Prices of Commodities Generally.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, July 30.—Senator Burton of Ohio, explained to the Senate at length today the reasons which, in his opinion, are responsible for the present high cost of living. The manifest and important causes, he said, were "the phenomenal progress of recent years, the striking inequality of this progress in different lines of human endeavor and the tendencies to extravagance and waste and to diminished productive energy by a large part of the population."

Neither the Payne-Aldrich tariff law or any other similar measure was responsible for the general high level of prices," he declared; for "the variations in prices have been so very considerable, both in the way of increase and decrease, as absolutely to disprove any inference that the change in prices has been due to the tariff of 1909, or to any other tariff act."

He exonerated the "trusts and large combinations of capital" responsibility of high prices, declaring that a complete monopoly in any particular article affords a chance to increase its price but that the same result is apparent when separate producers maintain an agreement as to prices.

"One of the serious influences tending to increase prices," he asserted, "is that the price of agreements of various sorts. It was one of the purposes of the Sherman anti-trust act to prevent practices of this sort; however, they can be evaded, and in fact this practice still continues. It is alleged that the so-called 'Gum Trust' has been able to do away with competition and establish uniform prices as the older and more illegal form of agreements had done."

Another "device now resorted to, to eliminate competition," he declared was that of "hiding behind the patent right." He referred to a recent Supreme Court decision, under which the holders of a patent for a article may be required to buy supplies of a certain make and pay the price imposed.

In regard to the progress of the age as a factor in high prices, Senator Burton said that "the conveniences and luxuries of one generation are regarded as necessities in the next. Even in humble homes a standard of living is made possible which was beyond the fondest hope entertained by generations that have scarcely passed away."

FIERCEST ENCOUNTER WAS STARTED TODAY

Reds in Strong Position on Ridge of Hills Fight to Prevent Cutting off of Supplies.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Tomah, Wis., July 30.—The heaviest fighting of the ten days' maneuver campaign started today when the blues attacked the reds in the strong position they have held in a week. The reds, possessing the ridge of hills west of Tomah, resisted fiercely before their base of supply lies behind them. The blues arose at five o'clock and left their camp two miles north east of Tomah at 6:30, the cavalry taking an early start according to unofficial reports from the field. The enemy was bound in three different directions from Tomah. They had strong paravols and were in a good position for defense. First shots were fired shortly after eight this morning.

London, July 30.—The judgment of the British board of trade court of inquiry into the disaster to the White Star liner Titanic which sank in mid ocean with 1517 souls after colliding with an iceberg on April 14, was pronounced today by Lord Mersey.

The court finds that the collision with the iceberg was due to excessive speed at which the Titanic was navigated; that a proper watch was not kept; that the ship's boats were properly lowered, but that arrangements for manning them were insufficient; that the Leyland liner Californian might have reached the Titanic if she had attempted to do so; that the track followed was reasonably safe with proper vigilance; and that there was no discrimination against third class passengers in the saving of life.

The court of inquiry exonerates J. Bruce Ismay, chairman and managing director of the White Star line, and Sir Cosmo Duff-Gordon one of the passengers, from any charges of improper conduct.

The judgment recommends more water-tight compartments in sea-going ships, the provision of life-boats for all on board and more efficient drills of the crew as well as a better lookout.

NEWSPAPER MEN HOLD CONFERENCES TODAY

Discuss Important Factors in Everyday Newspaper Work at Meeting in Madison.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, Wis., July 30.—President George E. Vincent of the University of Minnesota was the principal speaker last night at the opening session of the first National Newspaper conference at the University of Wisconsin gymnasium. Whatever may be the failures and shortcomings of the press, he said, they are part and parcel of the common life and every man must accept a share of responsibility.

Dean L. E. Reber of the university the chairman, said the university furnished the newspaper men an opportunity to gather to discuss their problems because it recognized that as the newspaper has co-operated in the past with the university in the service of the people, so it co-operates with the press in calling this conference. It grew out of the social center conference here last fall. Col. William J. Anderson, chairman of the joint city and university committee, said that Wisconsin newspaper men were back of the enterprise partly because it is a manifestation of the Wisconsin ideal of practical altruism. Because Wisconsin newspaper men are keenly conscious of the ethical standards of the press, they gladly joined in this movement for a discussion of that question he said.

Gov. F. E. McGovern prepared a paper on "Wisconsin—The Starting Point" which was read in his absence by his private secretary, Duncan McGregor. "The problem that confronts every well ordered society," he said, "is to see to it that facts, not fiction, are submitted to the public for their consideration; that only sound reasoning be employed and just conclusions reached. The people can be trusted to decide wisely whenever they have the facts upon which a fair judgment may go. How can this information be furnished? It seems to me that this work has been done in the past and will be done in the future principally by the public press. How well it is being done, you, the leading representatives of journalism in America, are here to inquire. It would be presumptuous for me, a layman, to undertake to tell you. Like Tost of recent pleasant memory, you now "inquire to know" about your own professional morals and your practical efficiency. We upon the outside, congratulate you upon the wisdom and courage of what you are doing and wish you well."

Newspaper men in the proportion of three to one disputed the claim of William H. Ellis of Gray's Lake, Ill., that the newspaper reading public is not getting all the truth it is entitled to, speaking at the national newspaper conference today.

Ellis contended that news is perverted in many subtle ways. Livy F. Richard of Boston, argued that the press is controlled by advertisers and the influence of social conditions so that the truth of it is suppressed. Other speakers maintained that the newspaper is not a corrupt and venal agency, that it is what the newspaper reading public makes it and that the freedom from prejudice and malicious news printing policies is one of the notable advances in the life of the American press.

Col. W. J. Anderson presided giving way later to Judge Emil Baensch of Manitowish. The visitors and guests enjoyed a launch ride across Lake Mendota at noon, followed by a lunch on the golf grounds.

Fruit, for example, is cheapest now because it is in season; Furniture is cheapest because it is out of season.

In all these big furniture sales and piano sales, these sales of rugs, of draperies and of house needs of every description, the prices are down to bedrock because the real season for manufacture and for distribution is past, and the "cleaning-up-time" is here.

Every maker as well as every dealer is converting his "extra" merchandise into cash. His season has been big, but as usual, his optimism has been bigger, and therefore he has more extra stock than he knows what to do with.

You will find values in these summer sales this year that you have not seen before in many seasons. Don't miss them, whatever you do. It is good for everybody once in a while to realize his desires.

Look over your homes; see what is wearing out and renew it now from these bountiful sales. When you are through with this article turn to the advertising on the other pages. This paper is filled with it and good values are running over the edges. Why should you buy those chairs or that rug next month when the price has gone back again to where it ought to be? Why not buy all you need right now and double the amount of your own prosperity.

These sales are valuable to you, every one. And every sale that is worth while is appearing right here in your paper from day to day.

Make some of this good, overflowing Prosperity your Prosperity. At least get under the drip.

NEGRO GIRL TO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

To Pay Penalty for Taking Life of Aged White Woman With Whom
She Had a Quarrel.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Richmond, Va., July 30.—There seems to be no prospect that Governor Mann will interfere with the execution on Friday morning of the electrocution of Virginia Christian, the negro girl, who will be the first woman to die in the electric chair in this state. Virginia Christian, who is only eighteen years old, in March last at Hampton, cruelly murdered Mrs. Belote, an aged white woman. The girl went to the woman's home for laundry and becoming incensed because of inquiries of the woman concerning certain missing pieces of linen in the previous week's washing, struck Mrs. Belote, a frail little woman, seventy years old, with a cuspidor falling her to the ground. When Mrs. Belote recovered consciousness and began to scream, the girl seized a poker and beat her over the head, finally ramming a cowl down the woman's throat and choking her to death. The murderer then coolly walked out of the house and was not arrested until some time afterward.

The Woman's Suffrage Question

(Contributed.) It is interesting to watch the other states in their solving the problem of woman's vote, and in no other way can we arrive at so lucid an idea of what this great subject means both for the home and the government.

Mr. Henry S. Ives of New Hampshire has written a letter to the press of this state about the convention's failure to pass the amendment, and his communication has made no little comment. In it he says: "After this shameful betrayal of democratic principles, let us not prize any more about personal liberty, but ask who are the powers that actually rule New Hampshire. Let us find out who converted about two hundred and twenty-five delegates, favoring the submission of this question within the last day or two into a minority which could only count 340."

We should probably find that there are the same influences that have corrupted New Hampshire politics during the last forty years.

I am glad that these powers fear woman's suffrage. It makes me believe more firmly than ever in its ability to help our public life. It links woman's suffrage clearly with the needed reforms of our day. It is no longer a question whether a woman wants to vote. Her vote is needed, if our politics are to be clean enough for her children to live under."

All eyes are fastened upon Ohio. A letter from Janesville, Ohio, states: "Woman's Suffrage is certainly in the air, to a greater extent than we realize. The other day a young woman went into a drug store, and merely as a greeting to the proprietor, said: 'How are you?' He replied: 'Oh, I'm for it, aren't you?' Seeing her puzzled look, he hastened to explain that he supposed, of course, she was inquiring how he stood on the twenty-third amendment."

Toledo has started its sunrise meetings, and at six o'clock on the morning of July 30, the speakers surrounded by all nationalities who leave the other portions of the market to listen eagerly to the talk on woman's vote.

In Salem was held a most impressive meeting among the miners who dropped into the hall, many with fingers missing from the hands, money which meant daily bread to them, as the mines there have not been running all summer long.

Mothers in Ohio who must save money from small incomes contribute their mite. Busy housewives are working "between meals" while some wives, after a strenuous day at home talk on the street at night, sometimes riding miles into the country to speak to groups waiting for them. College girls, home on their vacation, and fired out to turn their feet, and are carrying banners and speaking everywhere. In many cases, husbands and wives are working shoulder to shoulder in the cause. Fathers purchase automobiles that their daughters may the better do their county work. Husbands and brothers sit patiently in headquarters at night, to be company for the women of the family as they work.

The famous Lloyd Jones family headed by the Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones, will make the session of their "Tower Hill" meetings memorable on August 11, devoting it exclusively to suffrage. It is anticipated that Harriette Von Suttner will be the leading speaker of the day. Other speakers of note will be Zola La Follette, and the Rev. Mr. Jones. Arrangements of the day are due to Miss Ada James, Miss Lottie Sterns, and Jenkin Lloyd Jones.

In Dr. Anna Ploum's fifty-two talks in twelve days in Wisconsin, through Winnebago county, she finds the only men against the cause are those who have had literature from the liquor dealers' association.

Should he happen to be thrown in the company of a man from Iowa and of a man from Boston, he would discuss succotash."

At least nine players in the Central league will graduate into bigger leagues at the close of the present season. Here are some of them: Pitcher Sharrod Smith of Springfield goes to Pittsburgh in the National league; Pitcher Goulait of Springfield, goes to Indianapolis, of the American Association; Shortstop Scott of Youngstown, to the New York Nationals; Catcher "Red" McKee of Springfield, to the New York Nationals, probably; Outfielder "Bugs" Sheer, of Youngstown, to Brooklyn; Fitch, Madden, of South Bend, to Brooklyn; Pitcher Hardin, of Port Wayne, to the Detroit Americans. A number of other players are being watched by major league scouts, and doubtless some of them will go up.

Bombadeir Wells is a boxer of the "old school" declared Jim Corbett recently. "He is one of the cleverest big men I've ever seen and a wonderful puncher. But evidently he doesn't care about punishing a man too severely. He's a credit to the profession."

Johnny Coulon, bantam champion, expects to spend the rest of the summer at his camp near Bluff Lake, Wis. He will resume boxing in September, and is figuring on a bout with Frankie Burns, of Jersey City, in the Garden.

Manager Duffy of the Milwaukee club in the American Association, has asked the owner, Mrs. Havenor, to take a fair price for Catcher Schalk and get a couple of good players in return, as that is what the club needs badly. Manager Duffy thinks that where a club can get a big price for a player it ought to take it. He also believes in helping along the youngsters who are ready to advance.

The Cincinnati Club in the National league is making desperate efforts to land Bill Sweeney, the Newport boy, on its list. Overtures have been made to Boston for the release of Sweeney, and Mitchell, Egan and Grant have been offered for the clever second sacker. These three men are all above the average ball players, and the fact that President Hermann would let them go in exchange for Sweeney shows in what high respect the latter is held.

As the season advances, the Philadelphia Athletics aren't showing quite the form that was expected of them. When the champions failed to get first place at the beginning of the season the dopesters all said, "Oh, you just wait. Connie Mack's team will be on top before July is over." July is now about over, but Mack's boys still remain under. The truth is that some of them have been loafing. Bender, O'Brien and Collins are not exhibiting quite the form this season that they have shown other years.

Cleveland sporting writers declare that "Tuck" Turner of the Naps is without question the greatest fielding third baseman in the American league. His work has been consistently sensational. Bunts or smashes—it's all the same to him; they find their way into his mitts.

And Turner's batting has been as good as his fielding. Today he is in most consistent and dangerous hitter on the Cleveland team. His batting average is .322 and he is still climbing.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBERS MEET IN ANNUAL CAMP AT BANIFF

Baniff, Alta., July 30.—Mountain climbers from all parts of the Dominion, from Great Britain, continental Europe and the United States have been gathering for several days at the seventh annual camp of the Alpine Club of Canada, which has been pitched this year in the forest on the south side of Balliser's Vermilion Pass, main range of the Rocky Mountains, about eight miles from Castle and twenty-five miles southwest from Baniff. The camp site is at an altitude of 5,300 feet above sea level and amid highly picturesque surroundings. By its side is a rushing glacial torrent, the initial source of Vermilion river. The Pass is hemmed in by snow-clad peaks. To the east rise Storm Mountain and Mount Ball; to the west Boom Lake Mountain and Mount Elmyer. Prospectors Valley, in which flows Tokum Creek, gives access by a traverse of a wide snow field to the southern faces of six of the ten peaks forming that part of the range. It is expected that a number of the alpinists will avail themselves of the opportunity to graduate as full-fledged members of the club by ascending to the required height of at least 10,000 feet above sea level. Storm Mountain, the lowest and most accessible of the peaks is 10,300 feet and its conquest will be accepted as graduating test.

Dinner Stories

Frederico Gonzales Garza, under secretary of the interior of Mexico, is a matter-of-fact man who has the habit of holding his mouth open. The other day Secretary of the Interior Gonzalez walked into Garza's office and exclaimed: "Old chap, you have your mouth open!" "I know it," replied Garza, not looking up from his writing. "I opened it myself this morning."

"What is your occupation?" the justice asked the witness. "Judge," he replied, "ain't you a-gittin' jest a leetle too pussional? Have I got to give my livin' away before this here honorable court?" "You heard the question," said the judge, "and you must answer it. What do you do for a living?" "Well sir, I'll jest make bold to enlighten you—sence you seem to need it: In the summer, when I ain't a-fishin', I'm prophesying weather, an' when the weather don't fall right I'm either a-wikin' of alligators, an' a-sellin' of rattlesnake buttons, or attendin' campaign barbecues an' votin' around!"

MISS KINSLEY HAS RESIGNED POSITION AS LIBRARIAN HERE

Has Accepted Flattering Offer From Lane Medical Library at San Francisco, Cal.

Miss Lydia E. Kinsley who has been librarian at the Janesville public library since the early part of December, 1910, has accepted the position as librarian at the Lane Medical Library, San Francisco, California. The library is connected with the Stanford, J. University and will be opened in an imposing new building now nearing completion on September 1. It is understood that Miss Kinsley, who is now at Calgary, Canada, spending her vacation, will leave Janesville in time to assume her new duties Sept. 1st.

The position is a distinct advancement for Miss Kinsley in her library work. It offers a greater opportunity for perfection in all spheres of library activity and carries with it a flattering increase in salary. The appreciation of Miss Kinsley's ability is the more pronounced as the offer came entirely unsolicited.

Miss Kinsley was graduated from the Wisconsin Library School, connected with the state university, with the class of 1906. Since that time she has been engaged as librarian at Manitowish, Mich., and at the State Normal School at Warrensburg, Mo. During the summer of 1910 she continued her library studies in Europe and on her return to the United States was engaged for several weeks in organizing and cataloging work at the Physicians' Library, Chicago. She came to Janesville the first of December, 1910, and under her efficient direction the local library has become a much greater factor in service to the citizens.

Numerous changes have been instituted in the local library by Miss Kinsley, notable among which were: revision in the cataloging system, the establishment of a men's reading room, the opening of the library on Sunday afternoons during the fall and winter months, and effective publicity and advertising methods serving to increase the patronage.

It was through her efforts with the co-operation of the local library board the convention of the state librarians was secured for this city last winter. Her energy and ability has been in evidence at every turn and her resignation will be regretted by all who have been at her work. Her popularity and success was in a large measure due to her desire to serve all classes, the high school student, the woman club members, the business and working man, along the lines of their interests and inclinations.

The local board has not taken action on Miss Kinsley's resignation but will do so at their next meeting. Nothing has been done toward securing her successor.

ATTENTION CALLED TO POSTAL RULES

General Order Issued by Postoffice Department Regarding Abuse of General Delivery.

In an issue of the Daily Bulletin, the official organ of the Postoffice department at Washington, an order has been received at the local postoffice, and is general throughout the country, regarding the improper use of the general delivery by miners and by residents of cities served by carriers.

The order, which was issued by the first assistant postmaster general, calls the attention of the postmasters to the requirements of Section 713 of the Postal Laws and Regulations governing the use of the general delivery, and which gives the postmasters authority to require all persons supposed to be residents of the city in which they receive their mail to give their names and addresses and the reasons for preferring to be served at the general delivery. Minors, under the law, may be required to furnish this information and the names of their parents in order that the parents may be notified and have the opportunity to control the delivery of mail to their children, to the extent authorized by the postal regulations.

In cities where mail is not delivered by city carriers, the order states, the postmasters may notify the parents of minors calling for mail under what appears to be objectionable circumstances. As the order is a general one, it is not intended for any particular locality, but may be enforced in case of necessity. Postmaster Valentine states that there have been to his knowledge no cases where the law has been violated in this city. The law also regulates cases where fictitious names have been used.

GLOSSARY OF MOTOR MAKING

Authority on Automobile Compiles Talk Guide—Auto Terms Are Listed.

Can you talk intelligently upon the subject of automobiles?

If you cannot you can hardly be justified in calling your vocabulary "up-to-date."

It lacks some of the newest words in the English language and whether you own a car, expect to own one or only want to understand the news of the day and the conversation of your friends you ought to know these motor-made words.

In endeavoring to introduce the public to an entirely new dictionary Dr. Harry Thurston Peck secured the aid of Julian Chase, Ph. B., the editor of the "Motor" Magazine, who compiled a glossary of words applied to autos.

This gives some idea of the completeness of this latest dictionary, which is absolutely new from cover to cover.

This Dictionary is NOT published by the original publishers of Webster's Dictionary or by their successors.

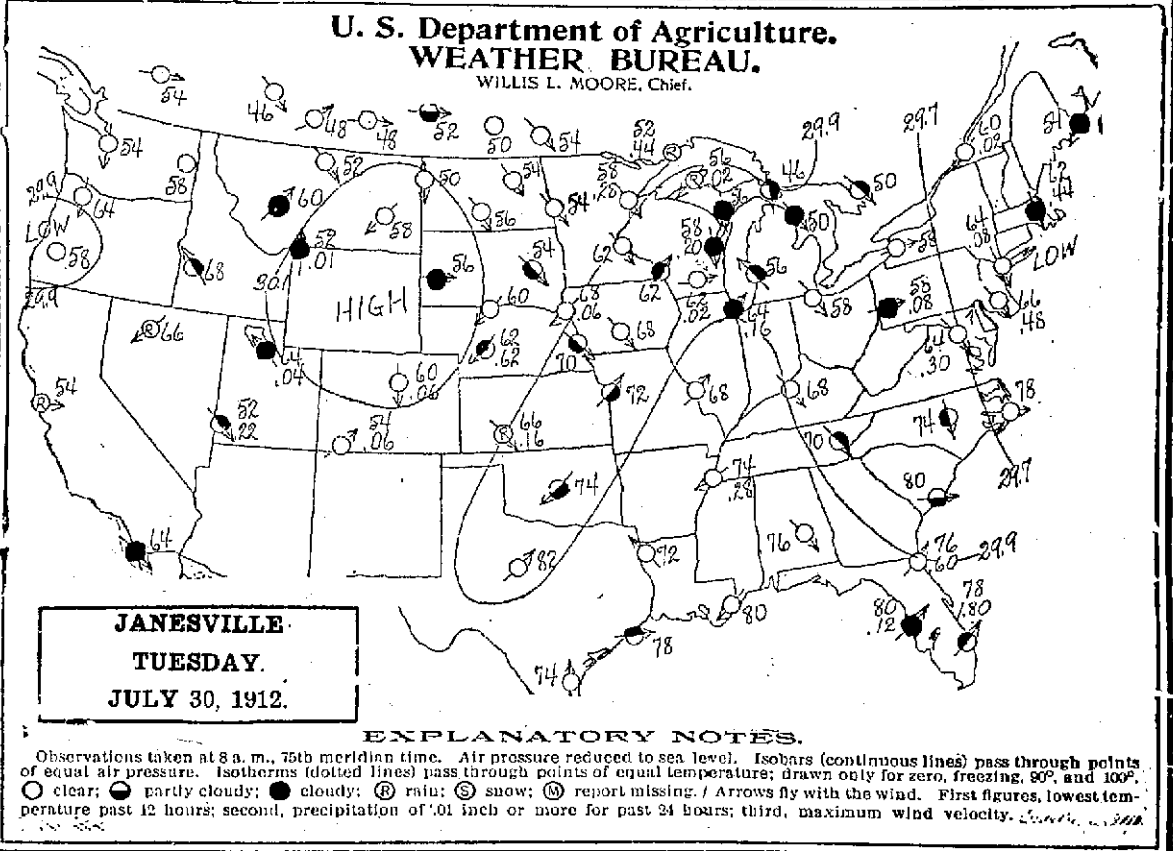

The book is known as the New Websterian 1912 Dictionary. Illustrated, and is brought up to the present in every particular. It is obtainable for six coupons clipped from The Gazette and a small expense bonus.

If you should happen not to be interested in motors you will find plenty of other new auto words to interest you.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

EVEN AS YOU AND I

IN A letter which came to me the other day was the following sentence: "Sometimes you are not so good as usual, and then I say, 'Well, perhaps Ruth has a headache today.'"

If there were more people in the world like the writer of that letter, how much happier a place this world would be! Because of the complexity of modern life we receive a great deal of service from men and women whom we never see. And just because we do not see these people we are apt to forget that they are men and women like ourselves.

Perhaps it is because so much work is done by machinery that we are inclined to act as if a machine cooked the food we eat at the hotel or restaurant; wrote and printed our newspapers; sorted our mail; tended the telephone switchboard, and performed all of the innumerable services whose agents we seldom or never see.

But these things are NOT done by machinery. Indeed—to contradict myself—nothing is really done by machinery. That is: without a human being to tend the machine, and consequently a human element in the product. All these services are performed by human beings, and human beings are liable to headache, heartache, sleeplessness, grief, anxiety and all the other ills and accidents which sometimes make it hard for you and me to do our work well.

You take up your newspaper some morning and find the type badly "piled" right in the middle of a story in which you are particularly interested. Or you think of a man who may have sat up nights with his sick wife or baby until he is so dead for sleep that he cannot always command his fingers aright—even as you and I have sometimes been? Or do you grumble, "How wretchedly this paper is set up!" and feel aggrieved that the machine which writes and prints your daily paper should have been allowed to get out of order?

Your cup of cocoa at the restaurant tastes burned. Do you simply send it back with an indignant word of condemnation, or do you remember that it was a human being like yourself who was careless for a moment and let that cocoa burn, and that there are times when even you and I make mistakes?

When the telephone girl gives you the wrong number some morning, do you reprove her sharply and sarcastically for daring to do such a thing, without a single thought for her end of the business? Or do you remember that she is probably young and possibly pretty, and surely fond of fun, and that perhaps she went to a dance last night and had a beautiful time and stayed later and got more tired than she really had any right to—even as you and I?

The world is full of human beings who are all sisters and brothers under the skin. It is also full of stupid people who never find that out.

To be sure we have a right to demand good service when we are paying for it with our hard earned money. That's justice. But don't forget that there is something higher than justice. That's mercy, and that teaches you to remember that your invisible servants are not machines but just weak human beings, liable to headaches and heartaches and mistakes and follies—even as you and I.

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

The Need of a Vision

THE Director of Public Works of one of the country's largest cities was discussing the question of a motto to be cut over the entrance to a big Convention Hall the city was to build.

"I would like to put," he said to a college professor to whom he had gone for advice, "without a vision the people perish." But if I did select that I know I would be scoffed at and jeered. The people would not understand, and they would simply poke fun."

"Let them scoff," replied the college professor. "Those who scoff are the ones who perish. This country needs the very thing you are pointing to. Without a vision, the people do perish. The material perishes. And we are becoming very material."

And to carry it still further—without a vision, the individual perishes. You and I perish, the best in us, if we let ourselves become concerned only with sordid, material things, if we never give our spirit food, if we never glimpse the high purpose of living. It is the vision, the ideal, the desire for better things, that keeps the spirit alive. Once we lose this, once we become of the earth earthy, we perish.

And it is not difficult to see the reason of this. The things of this world pass away. If we are concerned only with food, with dress, with pleasure, with society, what have we? All these things perish. And if we have built nothing but these into our minds, our hearts and our lives, we perish with them. The nation or the individual that is concerned only with material things goes down. It is the spirit that quickeneth, and if we do not keep alive the spirit, we gradually die.

We must have something to live for beyond the mere things of this world. We must set aloft some ideals. We must have a vision of beautiful things to come, things that hearten and inspire the spirit, things that beckon to the highest, purest life here, and prophesy a still better to come.

Then, we find joy in living; then, no matter what this world may give us, it cannot cast down nor overcome our spirit.

So it is well to put over our public buildings, and to hold over before our own mental gaze, "Without a vision, the people perish," and as a nation to keep ever before us the highest ideals of government, and as an individual the true purpose of life.

Heart and Home Problems

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am 21, live in the city and earn $10 a week. Do you think I am too young to marry? I know a real nice girl that would be willing to marry me. She is not quite 19 years old. We are both strong and healthy, but I have a friend who says a man ought to be 25 before he marries because he doesn't know how to treat a wife before he is that old. What do you think about it?

OSCAR.

I think your friend is right and your letter proves it.

A man who will ask a girl to marry him, expecting to live in a city, at the present high cost of living, on $10 a week, does not know how to treat a wife.

The old story that two can live cheaper than one, has been exploded long ago.

If you live in a boarding house, just ask your landlady if she will board two people for the same money that you are paying her. She will think you have lost your senses.

A wife needs food and clothes, and you will have to live somewhere, which means paying rent. There will be all kinds of expenses that you don't think of now, that come with marriage. You will want some fun, too; won't you? Well, even fun costs money in the city.

Also, a woman cannot stand too many hardships—especially a young married woman. Don't forget that. You can't treat her like another man, no matter how willing she is to put up with things.

There is another very important item you have overlooked. Will you be prepared for the arrival of the first baby? How are you going to take care of it and your wife, out of that $10 a week?

I never advise anybody to marry on less than $15 a week when they expect to live in the city. And even that, I fear, is an underestimate of what is necessary.

If you really love this girl, you will not marry her until you are earning enough money to give her a reasonably decent home and at least the necessities of life.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—When a man doesn't give his wife any money and tells her to run bills and have them sent to him, don't you think she is justified in taking money out of his pockets when she gets a chance? I never have a cent of my own. He says a woman isn't to be trusted with money.

Several judges have ruled that a wife is justified in taking money from her husband's pockets if he does not provide her with sufficient funds.

It seems strange that some men are perfectly willing to trust their wives with the family honor, and bringing up their children, and running the household, but not with a cent of money. Apparently such men make money their god, considering it far more important than their honor, children or home, or the love and loyalty of a wife.

There is something wrong with a man who will not trust his wife with a cent of money. I wouldn't trust him with very much money myself. I think I would want some responsible person to go his bond in a matter of financial importance.

Is there not some way in which you can earn some cash for yourself? Of course you can compel your husband to give you an allowance, by taking the matter to court; but I know that most women do not wish to do anything so public as that. Such a man, however, deserves to be held up to public scorn.

The Kitchen Cabinet

IF WE want to keep our friends, we must be hospitable to them in thought, receive them in our homes, visit them from time to time, write to them, and answer their letters. Our friends should be in every station of every age, in every part of our country and globe. Life narrows perceptibly when we have few friendships and few interests.

—Margaret Sangster.

PICNIC LUNCHEONS.

One of the main features of a picnic is to have something good to eat and not make it a burden to anyone to get ready for the outing. Wooden plates, paper cups and dishes for the salad, paper napkins and paper for tablecloth if desired will help to lighten the load.

Sandwiches, pickles, stuffed eggs, lemonade for those who do not care for the hot drink of coffee, cakes and a salad with fresh fruit is a spread good enough for the best.

A pretty way to serve stuffed eggs is to season them as desired, then on each half lay a slice of stuffed olive. Salted nuts and olives always add to such a feast and should not be forgotten.

With the thermos bottle icy lemonade may be served. If the juice of the lemons is extracted and the sugar and water boiled together, it will take but a moment to prepare the drink.

One of the most satisfactory cakes for an outing are sponge cakes baked in patty tins. Whipped cream that has been sweetened and flavored may be carried in a mason jar and the cakes may be cut open and filled with the cream just before the meal.

Carry the salad all mixed (if potato or salad not easily made messy) in a mason jar. It is easy to manage and not so heavy as a bowl.

For those who wish to cook something or make coffee, a sheet of sheet iron or a heavy piece of wire screening makes a useful stove placed on a heap of stones. It can be used as the top of a stove for the coffee pot, frying pan and any other utensils needed.

Fried chicken is a meat easy to carry and refused by few. If each piece is carefully wrapped in paper it seems daintier and is more agreeable to eat from the fingers.

If hard-cooked eggs are used, wrap them also, fringing the ends of the papers and twisting the ends. They taste better if they are pleasing in appearance.

A bon fire will dispose of all the refuse, plates, napkins, wooden or paper dishes, so that the return basket will lose much of its bulk.

"TOP-MILK" FEEDING OF BABIES NOT A SUCCESS.

Dr. Jacob, a well-known authority on infant feeding, says: "Good results are obtained by reducing the percentage of fat to two per cent; cane sugar added to milk gives better results than milk sugar. When baby is losing weight, the proportion of cereal decoction (barley water, rice water) should be increased. When cow's milk and mother's milk disagree, asses' milk may be given with success. Top-milk feeding is not a success." Many mothers think that the top milk, which is chiefly fat, is the richest part of the milk and that it is the best for children or even for the infant. I recently mentioned a case in which serious results followed from feeding an infant on the top milk, excluding the proper proportion of flesh-forming and mineral elements. The modern dairy cow has been bred to produce an excess of fat. Milk from a "scrub" cow allowed to run in the open is better than the best dairy product.

HOUSEHOLD TALKS

Henrietta D. Grauel

To know how to keep food properly in hot weather, how to place it in the refrigerator to the best advantage and how to utilize left-overs so they will not be left in knowledge that comes only by experience and experiments.

Young housekeepers who wish to make economy and thrift the more of their housekeeping are asking impudently for advice in this direction.

The first consideration in the use of a refrigerator is perfect cleanliness; it must be inspected once every day, washed twice a week and kept in order at all times. One of the weekly washings should be done with boiling water containing sal-soda, sometimes called washing soda. This sweetens the refrigerator and removes every odor and taint.

If the ice chamber is kept well filled with ice at all times you will not only use less ice but will keep up the circulation of cold air in all provision chambers.

Opaque ice or porous ice melts more quickly than the transparent, and sometimes a block of ice will have a great hollow in the center. Call the ice-delivery man's attention to these facts a few times, and he will still serve you with poor ice. Have him take it out of the refrigerator and change it for a better piece and it won't happen again. If you have not the courage for such strenuous methods try handing him one of your husband's perfects once or twice a week; that works splendidly at our house.

There is a little hard sense in the use of everything should be in its place in the refrigerator; milk, butter and eggs are to be placed under the ice and nothing else should be put there but these three articles. Next to the ice place bottled water and beverages that are to be chilled; since manufactured ice is, according to the confession of the officials of the company, often contaminated by petroleum, soiled filters and dust from the

A WOMAN'S OBSERVATIONS

Edna K. Woolley

"You can't keep your ideals long when you get out into the world;" "A girl needs a big store of ideals when she starts out in life because she will have to lose them fast enough in the world;" "Oh, yes, it's all right for youth to have these beautiful ideals. They won't last long in the world, though."

Don't these dicta sound familiar? How many times do you suppose you have heard them? Perhaps you've said them yourself once or twice when you liked the sound of cynicism, or when someone else had made you believe them.

The poor old world, whose hosts of things it is blamed for.

And yet it is only a big aggregation of just people—"lost" ideal people," I suppose.

But were you ever—now think hard—were you EVER forced by the world or anything else outside yourself to give up an ideal?

Illusions are lost, I grant you—hundreds of them a day, I fancy. We do find when we get out into that big, "awful" world they tell us about, that our illusions WERE illusions. That, of course, means losing them. We find they don't work out. And if they don't work out in a world of facts, they can't be true.

But does that mean ideals?

My dear girls—and women—who have let yourselves think the world had torn your ideals away with a ruthless hand and left you to face the world and eternity without them—just what ARE ideals?

Illusions, of course, we all know what they are—they are things we believed were true, which we find are not. And we usually mean when we speak of them, GOOD things. We mean thinking everyone is true and everyone unselfish and things of that sort. If they were true, if the world didn't have to wake us up and tell us they were illusions, it would be very nice. It would mean IDEAL CONDITIONS, possibly.

Things are the plantations we lose in the world, you see.

But ideals, oh, they are something machines, this is more satisfactory than to crush the ice and put it in the liquids.

See that the refrigerator is in a dry place away from direct draughts of hot air, and that its sills level and that the doors close tight and that all the water runs off through the drain pipe, which must always be freely open. Every refrigerator or ice chest is provided with a trap at the base of the drip pipe; this is removable and should be taken off when the box is cleaned. These traps are sometimes lost and then warm air enters and melts the ice; now once can be procured at almost any hardware store to fit any refrigerator; if yours is missing replace it at once and you will be surprised to see how much longer the ice lasts.

There is a little hard sense in the dejected that says: "Sister Susy had an ice man for a beat all summer, but now winter's come again she's going with the plumber."

For the ice man will if he is interested in pleasing you pick out the best pieces of ice; these are the clear blocks.

Fish may be placed in a cookery bag or wrapped securely in oiled paper and laid directly on the ice, but if this is done cover the milk and butter or, in spite of the protecting paper or bag, the odor of the fish will contaminate them.

Steaks and chops and other meats must never be laid next to the ice as it draws out the flavor. This and all other food should be placed in the food compartments, remembering that the coldest temperature is in the bottom of the chest or box as heat ascends.

Cheese should not be placed in the refrigerator; wrap it in linen and keep it covered on a cool shelf. Lettuce, celery, green onions, radishes, and all salad plants should be wrapped in wet brown paper and placed on the floor in the basement where they will keep more crisp and fresh than in the cooler. A cut nut-melon should be wrapped in oiled paper or tied in a cookery bag when it is placed in the refrigerator or it, like cheese and fish, will scent everything else.

very different; as different as is praying to be good from eating the jam that rewards your goodness.

They are the things we believe most worthy of strife. They are the things our souls want to be; the things we would like to be; yes, they are the things those illusion destroyers around us would like to be.

But if we think it is going to be easy to climb to them, THAT is an illusion; that is what we lose.

Let the world whisk those illusions away and don't bewail them. You want to know things as they are, don't you? You are strong enough to face truth or you wouldn't be here. But if you let go your ideals, it is not the fault of the world; it is not the fault of the wreckers; it is not the fault of anyone or anything—EXCEPT YOURSELF.

Fads and Fashion

New York, July 30.—Afternoon costumes, especially those imported from Paris, show greater elegance than ever before. Many of these costumes are made from extremely beautiful and costly material and are elaborately trimmed. Yet, there are some of these afternoon toilettes that have an extremely dressy air without being necessarily extravagant. They owe their smartness more to clever selection of material or handling of line detail and color than to expensive elaboration.

Flowered taffetas are largely used for these costumes. Many of these flowered taffetas are waft at the expense of summary daintiness and gaiety, showing blurred designs on grounds of dull old fashioned lines. These are good looking for certain purposes, but on a midsummer afternoon the more delicate colorings have a greater charm and there are plenty of the light toned taffetas to choose from. Those with white grounds strewn with ucegays in Dresden colorings or in soft rather dull shades of blue and rose and violet, etc., are perhaps the most satisfactory, but there are others, equally attractive, of pale tones, green, faint rose, blue de ciel, maize, lilac, with scattered floral design in harmonizing colors.

Such a taffeta worn by a pretty blonde woman at a recent lawn tea had a ground in pink so pale and

Catholic Church, Two Barns, And A Farm House Damaged In Storm
[Special to the Gazette.]
Dayton, near Evansville, July 29.—The Catholic church, two barns, and a farm house were struck by lightning in the severe electrical storm which visited this section early Sunday morning. The most extensive damage was done to the church where a hole was torn in the gable end of the church over the altar. The building caught fire and the interior furnishings were badly damaged before the heavy rain extinguished the flames.
The residence of B. T. Andrew was struck near a chimney, tearing a hole in the roof and shattering the cornice and corner post and boards in one corner of the building. Mr. Andrew who was standing in the kitchen when the house was struck saw a large ball of fire fly across the room but received only a slight shock. Little damage was done to the interior of the residence aside from the loosening of plaster and burning out the telephone.
The barns of John Weisen and John Mellenburger were struck and damaged to a greater or less extent. During the same storm a cow on the John Christ farm was struck and killed and several shocks of grain on the Murray place were burned. Three of the buildings damaged have been struck by lightning in previous storms.
After the clouds cleared away a balloon was seen coming from the west, going eastward sailing peacefully along in strong contrast to the recent experience we had passed through with the elements.

Real Endangers Lives of Elderly Folks

Sickness and Misery Follow Inattention to the Minor Ills.
Older people should be especially careful of their health during the hot months, as high temperature has a peculiarly enervating effect that tends to disarrange the entire digestive system. The slightest indiscretion in diet is almost sure to be followed by bowel trouble and indigestion, but if care is taken to keep the bowels open by using a gentle laxative stimulant at the first sign of any irregularity, a great deal of the misery and distress can be avoided.
Strong, harsh and drastic physics should be avoided because of the shock to the system following their use. An excellent laxative, and one that is easy and natural in its effect on the stomach, bowels and liver, is found in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a compound of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is pleasant to the taste and positive in its action. By cleansing the bowel tract and removing the foreign matter that irritates and inflames the tissue, a dose of Syrup Pepsin will quickly check the summer diarrhoea that is so prevalent. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold in drug stores for fifty cents a bottle; large, family size, one dollar. A free trial bottle will be sent, postpaid, if you will write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 406 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

BIBLE SCHOOL WORK
TOPIC FOR ADDRESS

J. Harry Bullock, State Superintendent for Christian Church, spoke at Local Gathering.
J. Harry Bullock of Green Bay, Wis., bible school superintendent for the Christian church in Wisconsin, spoke last evening at a meeting of the members of the First Christian church of this city at their hall over Rehberg's store.
The address dealt with the front rank standard of efficiency which is recommended to all the bible schools of the Christian church. This standard emphasizes holding a monthly workers' conference, teachers' training class, grading the school according to the international association, and use of graded lessons, ownership of bibles by pupils, organization of all senior and adult classes, evangelism and instruction in missions.
Reference was made to the fact that the Christian church is in the lead in the number of organized classes and enrollment and in the enrollment of teachers' training classes, according to the report of the International Sunday School association. The local school is planning to adopt many of the suggestions made by speaker last night. Steps will be taken to hold workers' conferences; a teachers' training class will be formed and adult classes organized.
The annual convention of the Christian church will be held at Footville, September 5 to 8.

John Miller swims across Lake Mendota at Madison
Janesville Young Man Makes Distance Of Three Miles In Two Hours—Companions Give Up Attempt.
John Miller, a young man of this city who is employed by the University of Wisconsin, succeeded in swimming across Lake Mendota Sunday morning, a distance of three miles in two hours, handicapped much of the way by very rough water. His two companions were unable to finish the swim and gave up the attempt. After swimming a little over an hour one of the contestants left the water because of a cramp in his left leg. Another continued swimming half an hour more and was then picked up by the boat which was following the swimmers. When the boys started out the lake was calm but before they proceeded half way white caps two feet high were encountered. Miller did not give up until one hundred yards from shore, having passed Muple Bluff and entered the bay.

KANSAS CITY II. WAS

Big Gas Bag That Floate Over Janesville Sunday Morning Landed at Belleville, Mich.
It was the balloon Kansas City II that crossed Janesville Sunday morning shortly after eight and later crossed Lake Michigan, landing near Belleville, Michigan, Sunday night, having made a distance of 640 miles from its starting point at Kansas City on Saturday afternoon.
John Watts, the pilot, had just taken out his pilot's license and this was his first flight in charge of a big gas bag. George Quisenberry was his aid. The Kansas City II won second place in the big air race and will be one of America's representatives at the contest to be held in Stuttgart, Germany for the James Gordon Bennett cup later in the year.
The air pilot told an interesting story of dodging an electrical storm. Describes Trip Through Clouds.
"The big silverized bag was working finely," said Watts in describing his trip. "We left Kansas City on a high current due northeast, but soon switched to the north. About 11 o'clock we sighted storms ahead and knew we must miss them to go any distance. I tried jumping the clouds and went to 9,000 feet, but was unable to make it. Then I dropped low to trail behind them. The lightning was flashing wickedly and the ominous roll of thunder was plainly heard. Storms may mean death to the balloonists."
"Luck was with us and we fell in behind a driving rainstorm. Farmers below shouted to us that the rain was not more than ten minutes ahead. The thirty mile breeze we were in testified to that. In that way we crossed southern Wisconsin yesterday morning in about three hours."
"We started across Lake Michigan over Kenosha about 10 o'clock Sunday morning and we cleared the eastern shore two hours later at Benton Harbor. It was a delightful trip above the water. We had plenty of ballast and were not afraid. At one time we rose to an altitude of 15,500 feet, and at that height fur coats would have been useful."

CATILINE.
By Howard L. Rana.

Catiline was a Roman demagogue whose chief occupation was starting festering sores on the body politic. His system was to run for office on the reform ticket, get defeated, and then assassinate the successful candidate when he was wholly unprepared for anything of the kind.
Catiline's first name was Lucius Sergius, but people called him "Late" behind his back. He was one of the most expensive demagogues Rome ever had as he was continually inducing some prominent citizen to act as the deceased at a public funeral. It was a dull day for Catiline when he didn't scatter a little poisoned soap around or leave a stiletto adhering to somebody's person.
Catiline made quite a bit as a political boss, and packed all the caucuses from Pantheon to the Appian Way, but whenever he ran for anything himself the populace would rise up and step on him with so much enthusiasm that he never had to ask for the official count. He ran against Cicero for the consulship at one time, but Cicero had packed the election board with his wife's relatives and buried Catiline under one of the most voluptuous majorities ever recorded.
The more Catiline brooded over his defeat the more discontented he became, so he hired two assassins who had built up a large business and contracted with them to stab Cicero violently in the tunic. This plan being frustrated Catiline got an army together and announced that he would now start one of the most irritating holocausts in the history of Rome.
When Cicero heard of Catiline's threat he rose to a point of order and denounced the traitor in some of the most vindictive Latin adjectives then in use, adding to them a few of his own invention. The senate then had several of Catiline's friends cremated in public, and sent an army in search of Catiline.
The army and Catiline found each other about the same time, and Catiline did not give up until he had become two persons in a bit. His death was greeted with sustained applause and numerous demands for an encore.

In these days of high cost of living, a medicine that gets a man up out of bed and able to work in a few days is a safe and valuable remedy. John Heath, Michigan Bar, Cal., says: "I had kidney and bladder trouble for nearly six years, and was confined to my bed, unable to turn without help. Soon after I commenced using Foley Kidney Pills and was relieved at once." His example is worth following. Foley Kidney Pills will do for others just as much as they have done for John Heath. Forty Years Ago

Janesville Daily Gazette, July 30, 1872.—Tomorrow Night. The arrangements for the Grant and Wilson flag raising and meeting for organization at Lappin's Hall are nearly completed and the most enthusiastic gathering of people since the days of the rebellion is expected. The Bower City Band and Opera House Orchestra have volunteered their services and a club of singers has been organized. The monster flag prepared for the west side will be raised between the Church and Durkee blocks about seven o'clock. The following is the order of exercises for that occasion: Music.....Bower City Band Song.....Glee Club Speech.....Hon. J. B. Cassidy Song.....Glee Club Music.....Bower City Band At the conclusion of these exercises the crowd is requested to move to the east side where two more Grant and Wilson flags will be elevated. One at the Main and Milwaukee street corners and the other on the Gazette office. At the close of the flag raising the meeting in Lappin's Hall will be held, where the organization of the Grant and Wilson club will be perfected. Senator Howe telegraphed this afternoon that he will be here tomorrow night and address the people. Howe and Hon. C. G. Williams will speak at the hall. Brief Items. The officers of the Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad are expected here to consider the project of building a new passenger depot. A reception was given last evening at the Baptist church for the Rev. M. G. Hodge, D. D., former pastor of that church, who preached here Sunday. The reception was universally attended by the friends of that gentleman. A Mrs. Connor, of East Milton, was in town yesterday in search of her daughter of whom she has had no trace since last spring. A soaking rain visited this county last night and this forenoon which will be a great benefit to the growing crops. Tobacco, corn and potatoes were suffering for want of moisture but this timely visitation will help them to maturity.

Mr. Crow: "At last I have found the portrait of my deceased ancestor."

Little bank roll, ere we part
Let the bug you to my heart;
All the year I've clung to you,
I've been faithful, you've been true.
Find a chum.

Little bank roll, in a day
You and I will start away
To a gay and festive spot;
I'll come home, but you will not.
